Study Skills: Elaboration

What is elaboration?
Elaboration is about expanding on the ideas you already know.

You could ask questions to help you revise in order to make links between the material you are revising and other material you already know for example. It can be an excellent collaborative strategy, work with friends to make these connections.